

ACCA Conference Student Grants

ACCA believes that a strong student-professional relationship not only strengthens beginning counselors but also enriches the counseling professional. Consequently, students are encouraged to attend conferences and network with professional members to gain valuable experiences and build resumes. To further that end, ACCA is offering 6 student conference grants to our fifth national conference.

The grant will pay for the student's registration fee to the conference. Students who wish to apply for the grant must submit a conference presentation proposal. These grants will be competitive.

Please write on the call for programs form that you are applying for the student conference grant. The programs should have an emphasis on practical approaches to college counseling rather than theoretical approaches.

Grant recipients will be expected to attend the Graduate Student Reception the evening before the conference begins and to volunteer their assistance during the conference.
